A DISMAL NEW YEAR FOR THE TAMMANY TIGER.

With the largest part of a cold winter ahead, with recollections of the late blizzard fresh in mind and forebodings of more low temperature to come, the Tammany Tiger stands on the edge of the New Year and sees a dismal enough prospect before him.

Mayor Gaynor, who was put into office in New York on the strength of Tammany votes, has announced his appointments to a long list of offices with fat salaries. In the whole list, as thus far given out, there is not a single Tammany man. The only new official who is even slightly affiliated with Tammany is the rich Rhinelander Waldo, whose activities in behalf of the organization have not been great.

Presumably, as a balm to Leader Murphy, and in order to soothe the feelings of that individual, who, with his lost of henchmen, is in politics for spoils, the new mayor has issued a statement in which he eulogizes Mr.
Murphy, declares he is much maligned and draws a halo of virtue and goodness around the head of that great and good man. He even advises some good women and clergymen who have been saying harsh things about Murphy to go and see him and say a kind word to him. This eulogy of Leader Murphy, however, will not count for much with the follower of Tammany who has to migrate from his warm berth and go out in January weather hunting for a job.

It is even threatened that there will be a general sweep of Tammanyites from the New York city departments.

Judge Gaynor is starting about the execution of the duties of his office in the right fashion. Of course, he will be judged not by how he begins his service, but by what sort of a record he makes after he is fairly settled in his position and particularly by how he deals with the traction question. The eyes of the country will be fastened pretty continuously on the new mayor. He has it in his power to deal Tammany a blow from which it will take years to recover, providing he has the nerve requisite for the performance. He has made a beginning that will meet general approval. The question is whether he can live up to the standard he appears to have set in his earliest appointments.

CARING FOR THE CITY'S POOR.

The Associated Charities and Citizens' Relief Association are confronted with the problem of taking care of the poor of Washington during the winter months. Money is needed, and needed quickly.

The people of Washington have never failed to respond generously to appeals in behalf of suffering humanity. In previous years the Associated Charities has been able to reduce to a minimum the sufferings of the destitute in this city. The work cannot be carried on this year unless the public furnishes the funds.

It is estimated that $27,500 is needed to supply dependent families with fuel and food. That is not a large amount. It could be raised in a few days if the citizens of Washington could be impressed with the seriousness of the situation.

"We all know," says A. Liser, chairman of the joint finance committee, "that at this time of year there is great want among the poor of fuel, food, and proper clothing to withstand the inclement weather. We ought, therefore, to turn our thoughts to these unfortunate ones who, instead of being comfortably situated, are dependent on assistance to tide over these severe months without the deprivation and misery incidental to being left uncared for. The people of Washington have always shown a sympathetic heart when called upon for help, and we hope they will do so this year."

We have great confidence that the necessary money will be forthcoming.
The Times has intimate knowledge of the charitable nature of the people of Washington. A striking example was furnished yesterday when many thousands of extra copies of the Sunday evening edition were purchased in order that the St. Vincent de Paul Society might have sufficient money to take care of homeless children. The greatest of charitable work is that which gives prompt relief to suffering. The Associated Charities is engaged in just that sort of work now and it needs your assistance.

MAKING A FARCE OUT OF TEMPERANCE LAWS.

The Atlanta Constitution prints the statement that a jury in that State acquitted a man of violating the Noble law, though $2,000 worth of liquor was found in his place, accepting the testimony of the defendant that "the liquor had been purchased for the purpose of filling a physician's prescription for his wife." The story may sound incredible, but juries have been known to render decisions equally ridiculous when brought face to face with a law that public sentiment does not want to see enforced.

In Kansas City, Mo., a few months ago all the power of a determined judge could not avail to close and keep closed the theaters under a law which provided for a jury trial and a fine if the defendants were convicted. Juries would not convict or would make the fines so small that they were no deterrent. As another illustration of the force of public opinion, the whole force of the Federal Government has been unable to make a Missouri county levy a tax in order to pay creditors who bought bonds issued to pay for the building of a railroad many years ago. The bonds were bona fide, but the railroad promoters were not, and the county did not get what it paid for. It repudiated payment of the bonds. Time and again county judges have been sent to jail for refusing to order a tax levy to pay the bonds off. They serve out their time in jail and other judges are elected with a jail sentence staring them in the face. But the bonds are not paid. Public sentiment is too strongly opposed to it.

The Georgia incident is a pertinent demonstration of the truth of the argument frequently cited by temperance persons who do not believe that the temperance question is solved by any means when a law is passed that a large part of the community opposes.
The vital force of a law is the sentimental back of it.

PROSPERITY OF THE WORK- ERS IN RUSSIA.

There is food for thought in the statistics just published by the Prussian National Savings Bank.

This governmental institution has branches throughout Prussia, and in it are safeguarded the savings of Prussians comprising two-thirds of the population of the German empire. The deposits are made almost wholly by the working class. They are eloquent of the amazing growth in the prosperity of the German industrial community.

The report shows that these deposits reached a total in 1908 of $2,393,250.
000, this sum being an excess of $112-500,000 over the savings in 1907. During the year the deposits exceeded the withdrawals by $30,000,000.

Of equal significance with the increase in the total of savings is the rate of increase in the number of accounts. These grew twice as fast as the rate of increase in the population.
The statistics show that there are now thirty savings accounts to every 100 of the people, or that, approximately, one of every three Germans has a bank book and a financial anchor to windward.

This showing is made notwithstanding the sums paid from the wages of workers into the fund that provides old age pensions, sick, life, and accident insurance and which maintains great sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis and nervous breakdown.

The Prussian Savings Bank has the same plan that is sought to be administered here in the postal savings banks. Its success should be a spur to those who are fighting for these additions to our banking system.

Dr. Henry Greund, head of the imperial German labor bureau, said, while on a recent visit to this country, that if America did not soon make adequate provision for the security of the money of its workers and for their care during periods of disability the tide of emigration would set toward Germany.

This will scarcely come true, but the possibility should set us thinking.

A Cambridge dispatch says: "Pria-matic camera shows light of Halley's comet to be now largely due to third cyanogen band." Gracious! Here is enlightenment for the lay mind.

The new Senator from Mississippi doesn't care how long he holds down his new job. He ought to communicate his philosophy to some of his Senatorial associates.

Charles Murphy is too practical a politician to be satisfied with a certificate of character as a substitute for patronage.

Perhaps Senator Dick's constituents will supply him with their definition of "Stand-Pat" at the polls.

Mighty strange we have not heard from that Tillinghast flying machine this morning.

President Taft will soon become a familiar figure in the streets of Washington.

The poor Tammany Tiger must be writing in pain today.

SCIENTIFIC PRESIDENTS.

America has had only a few Presidents of scientific instinct, and emphatically two of these were Washington and Grant. Washington, for instance, indorsed the torpedo as a merciful weapon after it had been condemned by Frederick the Great as unmerciful.
Grant was first to see and seize and use to the utmost that tremendous weapon, military telegraphy. New York

FIGHT TO DISSOLVE TOBACCO COMBINE

olds Traces History of the Trust.

civilized conscience," were some of his ways in which he characterized the combine. The action of the circuit court in dismissing the bill against the United Cigar Stores was held an error; and likewise the decree of that court extending the Imperial and British American Tobacco Companies, foreign corporations, from the law.

Tries to Influence.

It was declared that the advertising bill of $10,000,000 (spent in 1905 by the trust) was more to influence business and public sentiment to the belief that there was no combine existing. That the combine was illegal not only under the Sherman anti-trust law, but as well under the common law, was another contention made by Mr. McReynolds.

In his arraignment, the Attorney General summed up the grip which the "trust" has on the entire tobacco industry by showing that it controls absolutely the manufacture and sale of:
All of the cigarettes for export.
Practically all of the snuff and little cigars.

Three-fourths of the smoking tobacco and cigarettes for domestic sale.
More than three-fourths of the plug, twist, and fine-cut tobacco.

Ninety-five per cent of the boiler paste produced—a commodity absolutely necessary in the manufacture of tobacco.

Three-fourths of the output of tinfoil—"only one substantial competitor," as the special attorney stated, "maintains a precarious existence in this field."

A great deal of the box manufacture, tobacco machinery, pipes, containers, etc.

GRAND JURY HOLDS FIRM PROMOTERS

Former Treasurer of United States Among Those Indicted.

James H. Huston, former Treasurer of the United States, was indicted by the grand jury of the District of Columbia this afternoon on the charge of conspiracy and fraudulent use of the mails, resulting from his connection with the trust company.

Associated with Mr. Huston in the indictments are Samuel Graham, a wealthy broker of this city, and Harry M. Lewis. There are seven indictments in all, two of which charge conspiracy, and five for fraudulent use of the mails.
Graham and Dufour appear in but one indictment each, which charge conspiracy.

Lewis, who was represented as being the head of the corporation department of the trust company, was arrested in this city in September and held in $5,000 bail for action of the grand jury by United States Commissioner Taylor, before whom the case was brought by Postoffice Inspector B. K. Koon. It is set forth in the first conspiracy indictment that Huston, Lewis, and Graham made an agreement February 4, 1908, to organize a company for the purpose of guaranteeing corporate stocks, bonds, and other securities. Graham, under the name of Graham & Co., brokers, was to represent that he could sell bonds and stocks more easily when they were guaranteed by the trust company, and he also solicited business for the company. In the second conspiracy indictment the same allegations are made. Dufour's name being inserted in place of Graham, and the name of the company given as Everett Dufour & Co. and the Mutual Securities Company.

With Big Capital.

The trust company was represented to be a corporation with a capital of $1,000, 000 of which Mr. Huston was president; Hosea B. Moulton, of this city, trust officer; and James K. Folk and J. G.
Gray, directors. It is alleged the company solicited business in all sections of the country and received $20,000 in all as an advance fee of 1 per cent of the stock of the concerns to be guaranteed, the money being divided among the parties to the indictments. It is set forth that the guarantee of the trust company was worthless and that in using the mails to solicit business the concern was violating the postal laws. At the time of the arrest and hearing of Lewis in this city, which occupied several days, Mr. Huston, who lives in New York, declared he had been connected with the concern at its organization, but that he had withdrawn from it and knew absolutely nothing of its business.

Another Firm Held.

Joseph A. McNulty, Henry Van Vleet and James Richmond, alias Van Herbert S. Brame, the promoters of the defunct American Civil Service Institute, were indicted by the grand jury this afternoon for false pretenses and violations of the postal regulations.

These men represented themselves in advertisements to be desirous of appointing agents for their company or institute in various parts of the United States to superintend the giving of instruction to people who wanted to take the civil service examinations for Government positions.

Prospectus agents were required to subscribe for $300 stock in the concern, which was capitalized at $500,000, and said to have assets worth $175,000. In July, postal inspectors closed the company's offices, on the ground the stock sold agents was worthless.

Receiving.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Fairfax Whiting will present their debutante daughter, Miss Alice Whiting, to Washington society this afternoon from 2 to 7 o'clock, at a large reception at their residence, on New Hampshire avenue.

A number of Miss Whiting's contemporary buds, including Miss Adelaide Heath, Miss Eudora Clover, Miss Sophy Johnston, Miss Leonora Finley, Miss Katherine Brown, Miss Gladys Hinckley, Miss Laura Merriam, and Miss Mary McCauley will receive with the hostess and her daughter.

Others receiving with them will be Miss Agnes Whiting, of Baltimore, a cousin of the debutante; Miss Try-sena Read, also a cousin, and Miss Julia Whiting, a sister.

In the dining room will be Mrs. Ritley, of New York, sister of Mrs. Whit-ting, and her daughter, Mrs. Ogden Jones, of New York; Mrs. Burton Harrison, Mrs. Helen and Mrs. Arthur Ad-lison.

Miss Whiting's debut frock is of white embroidered tulle, with a train, and her mother will wear gray chiffon cloth trimmed with touches of blue, with panels of gray embroidery at the sides.
Miss Julia Whiting will wear a fairy shepherdess dress of pale blue satin.

Informal Dinner

At the White House.

The President and Mrs. Taft entertained a small party of young people informally at dinner last evening at the White House for Miss Helen Taft and Robert Taft.

Mrs. Strother Smith will receive this afternoon in her apartment, in the Westmoreland, assisted by Miss Young, of Hampton, Va., who is her house guest.

Mrs. Charles V. Habbitt will receive on Monday, January 24.

Mrs. Robert Bruce Donaldson and Miss Lucy Donaldson Lauck will be at home on Wednesdays in January at 1216 Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Benjamin S. Platt and her daughter, Mrs. Irving Frickey, of 1225 Euclid street, will be at home informally on Mondays, January 10 and 24.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Isabel Haas and Emmett Pace Bunney. The wedding took place Saturday evening, January 1, at the home of the brother of the bridegroom, Seymour W. Bunney, 1225 Euclid street southeast. The Rev. Hubert Bunney, a nephew of the bridegroom officiating.

Host at Dinner

At the New Willard.

Lieutenant Colonel Tanaka, the military attache of the Japanese embassy, was host at dinner last night at the New Willard, entertaining a number of prominent officers of the United States Army and the military attache of the various embassies and legations in Washington.

His guests were General Bell, Chief of Staff, U. S. A.; General Bliss, Assistant Chief of Staff; General Hall, Adjutant General; General Allen, Chief of Signal Corps; General Murray, chief of coast artillery; General Alekhine, Quartermaster General; General Worthespoon, president War College; General Whipple, Paymaster General; General Marshall, chief of the Missouri circuit court, adjudging it a combination in restraint of trade, was formally dismissed in the Supreme Court of the United States, and a motion was made for advancement of its hearing by the Government.

As yet, the Standard Oil Company has not filed its brief before the court, although Solicitor General Bowers announced that the company's counsel concluded in the Government's motion to advance the case.

Another case which may have an important bearing on the future prosections by the Government of the Sugar trusts was also docketed today. It was the Government's appeal from the case of Gustave Kissel and Thomas B.
Harned, charged by the Government with conspiracy which resulted with the closing of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refinery, the bankruptcy of Adolph Selgel and the suicide of Frank Hippie in Philadelphia three years ago.

A reception was given last night at the residence of Mrs. L. N. New-meyer, Columbia road, in honor of Mrs.
Gans' eighty-sixth birthday anniversary.

Music and games were the features of entertainment of the evening. A buffet supper was served. The entertainment of the evening was a basket filled with red rosebush blossoms.

The guests included Mrs. Gans, Miss Richie Gans, Mrs. R. Wallerstein, Mrs.
Gottschalk, of Philadelphia; Miss Edith Strasbourg, Miss Selma Kahn, and A.
J.urst of St. Joseph, Mo., and A. L.
Newmeyer.

Sunday Evening Edition Sales Go to Worthy Charity

Every purchaser of the Sunday afternoon edition of The Times yesterday contributed to a worthy charity. The entire proceeds of sales of that edition of The Times will go to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul for the benefit of their home placing bureau, and will be used in supplying homes to homeless waifs.

To swell this fund The Times printed 20,000 extra copies, and from figures received today at least 15,000 extra copies were sold.
The Sunday afternoon edition yesterday kept up its reputation as a newspaper purveying live news.

Among the exclusive stories which this edition contained, hours before the Monday morning papers could give them to the public, were:

The first news of the
